43rd Annual Conference

May 2nd – 4th 2025

GIESSEN

Decolonizing Global Child Health

Critical Reflections and Dialogue to Ensure the Right to Health for All Children Worldwide

WELCOME

This year, the German Society of Tropical Paediatrics and International Child Health (GTP) will be hosting the 43rd annual conference together with Justus-Liebig-University (JLU) Giessen.

We welcome you to join us in the discussion around Decolonizing Global Health, especially emphasizing the right to health for all children worldwide. We will listen to and discuss with international experts, researchers and practitioners to analyze the given structures and challenges of global child health and discuss new ways of achieving more equitable health care. Together, we would like to encourage the discourse and engage in the process of re-imagining global child health.

Amongst the speakers will be Gilda Sahebi (physician, political scientist, journalist/GER), Norman Lufesi (MoH Malawi), Anuj Kapilashrami (Uni. Essex/UK), and Delanjathan Devakumar (UCL/UK).

In addition to clinical topics, we will be addressing the following issues:

- Global Child Health Today: International perspectives and challenges for the health and well-being of children worldwide
- Addressing inequities through the lens of intersectionality: In-depth exploration of racism and other forms of discrimination
- Decolonizing International Cooperation? A conversation on histories, experiences, powers, and perspectives
- Pre-conference workshops will be dedicated to topics such as: ETAT+, pediatric ultrasound, interdisciplinary health professionals workshops, climate change and health, FGM/C in children, and language mediation in clinical practice

The conference intends to be a place for exchange and reflection, a space for all of those who want to combine clinical input with critical examination of the inequities that persist in global child health to this day.

We look forward to welcoming you and having lively discussions!
